Questions for Title 40/CCA Sub-teams

Title 40/CCA Core Team

DM*A*I*C

- Who are the customers? What are their requirements? Are they measurable? How were the customer requirements determined?
- What are the key success factors for requirement being achieved? What is a requirements defect (what can go wrong)?
- What is the impact of requirement on the program, customer, and its relationship to acquisition process?
- What is the process/work flow to determine compliance?
- Who are the key stakeholders? How will they be involved in the project? Who should be on the team?
- What have been the key lessons learned to date (if any)? What kinds of barriers/obstacles will need assistance to be removed?

DATA

- What are the top 3 issues experienced by those completing the requirement across the product life cycle? How often does the issue occur?
- What entity/agency causes the issue? How often does the entity cause the same issue?
- What effect does the issue have on the work being conducted (how is the issue felt?)
- How long does it take to correct the issue?

What is our deliverable?

- Depends on the task
- No conclusion but task is to answer the question

Improve CIO/NII pre-MS A CCA Compliance and Oversight Process

- (brainstorm mode)
- Education – most CBA teams don't know that a PIR is needed
- Most teams work within the small picture, not the big strategic picture
- Need data on the % of programs that have a PIR plan and have conducted PIRs
- Need PIR process and metrics
- History on the “presumed” language in table E.4; could not figure it out so we threw in presumed. (Other AT&L views “I am not going to subject my programs to a PIR”)
- Discussion about the findings of the past 30 months regarding MOE's

How will we work (F2F, on line, time to meet)

Title 40/CCA Core Team

- MOE + PIR Sub-team page on IT-CoP:

<https://acc.dau.mil/CommunityBrowser.aspx?id=234715&lang=en-US>

- All will explore the IT-CoP but until it becomes useful, Len will send out an email to all sub-team members
- When you enter the MOE+PIR page as a member, subscribe to it (bread crumbs in blue near the top of the page) and you will be notified of new materials and/or changes or answers to questions and so forth. The subscription can be edited any time.
